

QUESTIONS?

What You Should Ask...

How to choose the best hair restoration surgeon... Ask them....

Ask the Doc:

What is your field of expertise and medical background?

How did you begin of your career in hair restoration and medicine?

How many hair restoration procedures have you done?

How long have you been performing hair restoration surgery,?

What techniques do you favor?

Know what to ask and what the answers mean....

Ask The Doc:

What types of degrees and certificates have you earned?

Are you registered with physician's or surgeon's boards?

What medical organizations are you currently a member of?. You may even want to inquire about what other medical fields they have been certified in since some hair restoration surgical fields require little or no certification to perform these procedures.

GET THE INFORMATION BY ASKING...

How many successful hair restoration surgeries have you performed first hand? Were any unsuccessful? Why?

How many complaints or complications have occurred over the last month? Six months? Year?

How much is my hair restoration surgery going to cost?

GOOD TO KNOW:

Certain hair restoration surgeries like micro-grafting can get extremely expensive, so if the price of the surgery appears to be too cheap, you should be very skeptical about letting that person perform the surgery. This doesn't mean that you should choose the most expensive hair restoration surgery. Granted, the more affordable the procedure is the better. But too affordable should be avoided.